How different the history of Rangoon in this respect from that of Hongkong. Instead of the light dues here being reserved for the specific purpose for which they were levied they have been merged in the general revenue of the Colony and have been maintained at a figure far in excess of the cost of the service. Special fees are being levied to defray the cost of the Gap Rock light, but there is no security that when the outlay has been fully covered the dues will be reduced. If the control of the learbour and the lighthouses were handed over to a Board the revenue would be maintained only at such a figure as might be required to defray the necessary charges and the shipping would get a full equivalent for all dues paid. Such a Board would, moreover, be unch more competent to decide on the merits of such a question as that of the laying of a tolegraph cable to Gap Rock than the Government. 23rd March. On account of the floods in Shantung last year, which not only flooded all the mines, but also destroyed all the salt. H. E. Chang Yao has applied to the Salt Taotai here for a loan of a large quantity of salt. This application has been laid before the Salt Commissioner, and h is unwilling to make such a loan because as he alleges, before the flood, the salt people managed to send across the borders about 1.800 piouls monthly, and new they are able to sell about Chang Yao: however, the question is to stand

From Kai-ping I learn that the Railway Company are making out the line to Shan-kai kwan. This really means that Herr Krupp has again come forward, and through his two railway engineers, who have been here since last year have arranged to supply the money, &c., required, as he did for the Kaiping line in 1888. the former line the collieries at Kaiping were used as a lover to secure the sanction for the construction of the railroad: now the argument is that in order to make the Kaiping line a paving concern it is absolutely necessary to extend to Shau-hai-kwan, by which also the consumption of coal would be largely increased. The alternative line from Tientsin to Paking would. no doubt, have been a more promising line commornially considered, but that seems impossible for the moment, and the railway people will only be too glad to accept the other line to Shan-hai kwan, if they can procure the assent of the Peking Authorities, which is still very doubtful.

> THE DILKE SCANDAL BEOPENED. LONDON 5th March.

A long statement has been issued and is now being circulated among the electors of the Forest of Dean. Division of Gloucestershire, on behalf f Sir Charles Dilke. On February 25th it was announced that the electors of the division had sked Sir Charles Dilke to be their candidate for Parliament at the coming general election.  $\mathbf{H}_{i}$ assented, provided he had a fair assurance from a majority of the Liberal electors that his can didacy would receive their support. Now it? earned that Bir Charles supplied the Liberal rganization with a statement for private circula on, vindicating himself against the charges made against him in connection with the famous Crawford-Dilke divorce case. According to this statement, Captain Forster ought to have been the co-respondent, and not Sir Charles. Referr ing to the notorious "Fanny." the namphle says she is now happily married and known as Mrs. Stook. The pamphlet says Mrs. Crawford. during the divorce proceedings, made the assertion that "Fanny" had been Sir Charles Dilke's mistress, and crowned her own infamy by admitting that she had shared Sir Charles' intimacy with "Fanny." "Fanny" has made a statutory declaration, giving a full account of herself, and a sworp denial of Mrs. Crawford's story. The general opinion seems to be that the paraphlet will reopen the agitation of yours gone by and will probably win over to Sir Charles' ide a number who previously condemned him. but that it will fail to completely vindicate him. It is probable, however, that Sir Charles will abandon the idea of entering Parliament Hadstone having objected to his proposed candidacy. Mr. Stead has published a protest

BERLIN, 7th March. By his personal influence the Emperor has succeeded in preventing the defeat in the Reichstag of the Government bill on the preposed addition to the navy, but this has only been done by inducing some of the members to abstain from voting. The debate on the subject disclosed the fact that both the Conter and Preisingipo parties were strongly opposed to conceding the amounts required for the construction of two or three gunboats, one ironelad and one dispatch boat. The question, though not of striking import, became of serious moment to the Government when the two parties combined to oppose the increase of the may on general principles. To-day's division in the Reichstag gave the Government 1.1 against 77. The Constitution requiring that one half of the members must vote, and there being one short of that number voting, the question will be resumed on Monday. Since the committee of the House heard Admiral Hollman's frank disclosures of the Admiralty projects to raise Germany to the rank of a great naval power the Reichstag has been thoroughly alarmed, and it has been difficult to persuade that body to concede even reasonable demands. It was painful to hear Chancellor you Caprivi yesterday evening plead the necessity for two more gunboats to guard the approaches to the Baltic canal. Dr. Windthorst the Centrist leader, contended that the canal would not be completed before 1898 and that the building and equipping of the gunboats could well wait. Chancellor von Caprivi asserted that the canal would be opened in 1895 and held that Germany ought to have vessels ready to protect Emperor William is very much of a grand pavy. His Majesty lays the blame for its defeat upon the indiscretion of Admiral Hollman in making his disclosures and the Chancollor's want of parliamentary tact. Admiral Hollman has offered to resign the Secretaryship of the Admiralty. The position of Caprivi-i understood to be critical. The Emperor has openly taken Waldersee into favour, but it is impro-
